Open views open minds

Greengate's founders and designers Mona and Jesper Bjørn Christiansen like to think of Danish landscapes and seascapes as vast canvases from which to draw inspiration. From the sea and forest views of their studios, to their summer retreats in the seaside resorts of Skagen and Tisvilde, the inspiration of dramatic nature is everpresent. Without this interaction with nature, Jesper and Mona believe they could never breathe the life, simplicity and honesty into the collections they create.

The best collections are never intellectualised. Rather, they are a mirror of the feelings, sights, smells and sounds of what surrounds us. And it is more than good fortune that the Christiansens find themselves surrounded by such natural beauty!

Can you keep

While the Danes are not known for being greedy, they have successfully managed to keep one of their national treasures all to themselves. Skagen lies on uppermost tip of Jutland and those who savour the best for all of their senses flock here each summer.

Indeed it was in Skagen where Denmark's artistic golden age was born. In the 1870s a new generation of painters were to discover the unique light, the rugged lifestyle of the local fishermen and breathtaking landscapes and evoke these treasures in countless painted masterpieces.

Today, visitors can experience exactly the same things as those artists did so many years ago. It is a world away from the pressures and complexities of modern life, and the paired-down approach to eating, sharing and # a secret?

relaxing is nothing short of an epiphany.

Those pioneering artists used to swap their seminal paintings for a plate of fresh fish and room with a view. While those paintings are now worth millions, anyone who visits Skagen today would be hard-pressed to say who in fact got the better bargain!

Mona and Jesper Bjørn Christiansen like to think that there is a little bit of Skagen in every Green-gate product. For it is here, every summer, that the seeds of each new collection are sown. Inspiration seems to grow on trees here, and a day here is worth more than all the time in the world in a busy studio. With this physical link to simple nature and magical light, they feel that the collection can become more than the sum of its parts. But let's keep that a secret!

GRANDMA'S "RØDGRØD" (Stewed red berry fruits)

Ingredients:

500 gr. assorted berries (strawberry, raspberry, red currants, blueberry and black currants)
300 gr. sugar
2½ dl. water
1 tbsp. cornstarch, mixed with ½ dl. water
Sugar to sprinkle on top
Whipped cream
Vanilla ice cream

Here's how:

Mix berries, sugar and water in a saucepan and boil – adjust to taste if necessary. Stir in cornstarch mixture.
Remove from heat and cool with sugar sprinkled on top. When cool, add some extra berries and lightly-whipped cream. Top with a scoop of vanilla ice cream. Enjoy!

Encore Tisvilde!

Another vital location each year for Mona and Jesper Bjørn Christiansen is the Sealand resort of Tisvilde. It is here each summer that you will find the biggest concentration of artists, musicians and creatives of all types anywhere in Denmark. The beautifully maintained hotels and houses are bettered only by the views they offer and the company they keep.

Company like Sarah and Alexander Kølpin – your hosts at the Helenekilde bathing pension. Before buying this iconic hotel, Alexander was an internationally acclaimed Ballet dancer, while his wife Sarah is a former model. Alexander's approach to treating guests has been thoroughly shaped by his earlier career. In fact, a visit to the hotel is more like becoming part of a magical theatre performance than being in a seaside hotel. As Alexander says, "I just love setting a scene, making everything work and make it look mesmerizing. It might sound odd, but in the end it all comes down to making other people happy – then I'm happy. It's easy!"

Happy, certainly. But crucially for Mona and Jesper, also inspired. Sharing weekends with creative minds from diverse disciplines like those staying at the Helenekilde bathing pension, allows them new perspectives and insights about their own creative pursuits.

Inspiration can come from anywhere, it is true. But it just comes that bit easier with the right setting, the freshest foods, and most of all, the most stimulating company!

To get a little taste of the magic of summer in Tisvilde, their Chef, Simon Thulin, has kindly provided us with a recipe for his renowned preparation of that most Danish of desserts – "Rødgrød".

THE SUMMER LIFE

Anyone with experience of the perfect day on the beach knows that it takes a little bit of planning to make it all work out to perfection. Similarly, the Greengate design team knew they had to carefully plan their beach collection if it was to be a success. It was thus deemed necessary to carry out some in-the-field research (informally known as a jolly-on-the-beach).

After a gruelling day of lying around, picnicking and bathing, the Greengate team were ready to make this inspired new collection: designed on the beach, for the beach, by some very serious beach lovers.

HANDMADE STONEWARE

HC Andersen's famous story of the Princess and the Pea springs to mind when visiting the bright studios where Greengate's stoneware is hand crafted. Like Andersen's princess, every single piece is unimaginably sensitive to the slightest thing. A five degree change in temperature in the firing stage, for instance, would mean that the stoneware would not attain the exact colour specification. And applying the intricate patterns needs a pair of extraordinarily skilled hands and a patient character. Handcrafting large quantities of individual items and reaching the highest standards of uniformity of shape and colour means that every stage of the long process must be quality controlled and checked. And checked again.

So while the distinctive look, feel and quality of Greengate's iconic stoneware doesn't come easily, there's absolutely no doubt that it is worth it in the end. The difference can be seen instantly, or even felt with your eyes closed. In fact we think it's fit for a princess!

Espergærde Denmark

The Willestrup roses which bloom in abundance around the terrace of Mona and Jesper's garden follow almost precisely the same lifespan as Danish outdoor living each year. Blooming in April and lasting all the way into October, they act as a daily reminder to make the most of the outdoors while you can.

Outdoor breakfast – even on a school day – can make all the difference in the world. Long summer days are the most treasured thing in Danish life, and the Greengate stoneware collection is a little reminder of all that can be gained from the simplest things in life – sharing a summer's day, a cup of tea, a gentle smile.

...and the wearing is easy...

How many times have we sacrificed comfort in the name of looking stunning? The principal aim of the new Greengate clothing collection was freedom to look and feel great at the same time.

Mona Bjørn Christiansen says: "We were looking for a perfect balance between casual and smart, comfortable yet shape giving, classical but fashionable. It was a lot to ask for, but the irony is that now when we look at the finished collection, it looks like the simplest thing in the world!"

Boys' Own

Just because boys are - well...boys, doesn't mean the collection should stop outside their bedroom doors. Classic Greengate themes are given a little twist here and there to give the range a boyish style and a gentle sporty dash.

Every item in the boys' collection comes thoroughly tested and approved by Mona and Jesper's home-grown research team – William and August. "If a collection makes it through these two little monsters, we know we are on to something!" laughs Mona.
